Bald Headed Man From the Country Disappointed in the Opera.

The man sitting next to him noticed that the bald-headed person with the red nose was getting decidedly nervous.

Presently in the middle of a mag nificent quintet, the bald headed man turned round and said:

"Say!"

"Well?" was the reply, accompan lover of opera bates interruption as Satan hates good.

TOOK THE CAR.

There is a decision and energy about Englishmen sometimes which arouses admiration. A case in point occurred on Monday, says the Los Augeles Herald. Two men, whose clothes, monocles and accent forci bly announced their nationality, called at the ticket office of the Southern Pacific railroad and asked for two lower berths on the train to San Francisco.

They are all gone. You can have uppers, though, was the response.

"On, no; doncher know me friend is beastly ill, and he can't go unless he has a lower berth. He must have one, doncher know."

The agent was sorry, but as he only had upper berths, he could do nothing. Then the spokesman in sisted on seeing Mr. Crawley, and that official again explained the absence of any lower berth, only to re- lated and the results will be summed ceive the reply: "Aw, yes; but we must have a lower, doncher know."

"All right, if you must, you must" answered the official. "They will cost you just $269. We have an ued most of the week. The report extra car here and can put it on for shows that the southern part of the you at that figure, if upper berths

MR. FUNNYMAN'S IDEA.

A Farmer Humorist Tells How to Have Good Roads.

I can inform your readers of the very best way that roads can be improved and the only way to have lasting roads. Take the road tax from every farmar who is willing or able to build up and care for a limited length of road. Divide the country roads up into small chunks. Give a premium of a new kind of pig or a new strain of cockerel for the best improved chunck of road in the care of any single farmer.

Get the ladies interested by offerng them prizes of sweetmeats or chocolate drops, if they will use their influence with their husbands, father and sweethearts, to make and keep up their quota of the read. Have kissing bees which will interest the boys, they will do any sort of work for a kiss. This will start up a big excitement throughout the country.

Offer to give all the stone, gravel or sand necessary to make a perma nent road. When there is no stone there is plenty of gravel, and when there is no gravel there is sand. Mix sand with clay-mix gravel with elay-mix stone broken as small as hen's eggs with clay. Tax city people and farmers who do not help to make the roads

Then when everything begins to work smoothly offer a reward for the poorest worked piece of road. The reward may be a pair of mule's ears cut from the head of a defunct mule. well greased and dried. There is nothing like rewards offered to start the farmer into good actions. I teel practice we will have the best roads that the world ever saw. And we will have plenty of fun as well as good reads.-Rural World.
